The search for general laws and regularities in Translation Studies gained new momentum in the 1990s when Baker (1993) promoted the use of large electronic corpora as research tools for exploring the linguistic features that render the language of translation different from the language of non-translated texts. By comparing a corpus of translated and non-translated English texts, Baker and her research team put forward the hypothesis that translated texts are characterized by some "universal features", namely simplification, explicitation, normalization and levelling-out. The purpose of this study is to test whether simplification, explicitation and normalization apply to Italian translations of children's books. In order to achieve this aim, a comparable corpus of translated and non-translated works of classic fiction for children has been collected and analysed using Corpus Linguistics tools and methodologies. The results show that, in the translational subcorpus, simplification, explicitation and normalization processes do not prevail over the non-translational one. Therefore, it is suggested that the status of translated children's literature in the Italian literary "polysystem" (Even-Zohar, 1979, 1990) and, from a general viewpoint, all the cultural, historical and social conditions that influence translators' activities, determine translation choices that can also tend towards processes different from those proposed by Baker. Inventor and owner of the Patent: Luca Falace INTRODUCTION Dear reader, I would like to make available to the world community an invention of mine and my patent, filed in 2018, against virus infection. Right now humanity is struggling to start fighting this new virus, corona virus. I filed a patent in the year 2018, with all the explanations, to make my invention. I would like to make my invention available to humanity. How can we do? I don't want money, and therefore I don't want my project to be for profit, but to help the humanity I love. How can we do? 1. I want to make available my invention and my non-profit patent. 2. I want to carry out my invention together with all interested readers, entrepreneurs, companies, countries, nations. 3. I don't want to make the invention, to make money, but to help people around the world against the crown-virus. invention and free of charge, I am available to carry out the engineering, if there was an entrepreneur, or a company, which would produce my invention. How can we do? If you are a scholar, you could recommend this book, create word of mouth. If you are not an entrepreneur, in order to produce this invention, it does nothing, you can adopt all your ideas, to be able to spread this invention. In doing so, maybe someone will come and decide to make it happen. And therefore help today and in the near future, all humanity in the event of a pandemic. Thank you. Luca Falace Contacts:

Il D.M. 14 gennaio 2008 è la principale norma tecnica attualmente utilizzabile in Italia, e rappresenta un punto di svolta nel nostro panorama normativo, recependo i risultati della ricerca scientifica e le novità introdotte da tempo negli Eurocodici. Questa normativa prescrive sollecitazioni sismiche molto superiori rispetto a quelle previste dalle normative precedenti, cosicché la stragrande maggioranza del patrimonio costruito esistente, sia esso in c.a. o in muratura, risulta inadeguato e necessita pertanto di interventi di miglioramento o adeguamento. Tra le varie tecniche di consolidamento proposte dal D.M. 14 gennaio 2008 e dalla Circolare esplicativa n. 617 del 2 febbraio 2009, particolarmente interessanti risultano quelle che contemplano l'uso di compositi, a causa delle notevoli proprietà meccaniche di questi materiali e del fatto che, essendo usati sempre più frequentemente, sono oramai competitivi anche da un punto di vista economico. Il volume si propone quindi di illustrare i diversi aspetti delle verifiche statiche e sismiche degli edifici esistenti, prima, e di quelli rinforzati con i compositi, poi. Le varie tipologie di consolidamento strutturale con FRP, con relativi problemi di calcolo, sono discusse attraverso l'applicazione delle regole ed indicazioni fornite dal documento CNR-DT 200/2004 e dalle "Linee guida per la Progettazione, l'Esecuzione ed il Collaudo di Interventi di Rinforzo di strutture di c.a., c.a.p. e murarie mediante FRP", approvate il 24 luglio 2009 dall'assemblea Generale del Consiglio Superiore LL. PP. Nella prima parte del testo sono affrontati i possibili interventi con FRP fornendo richiami teorici per le diverse problematiche, anche con riferimento alle indicazioni contenute in altre linee guida internazionali. Sono inoltre riportati esempi di calcolo di rinforzo a pressoflessione, taglio, confinamento di elementi in c.a. e muratura, non trascurando il rinforzo di archi e volte e l'inibizione dei meccanismi principali che interessano i pannelli di muratura fuori dal loro piano. Nella seconda parte del volume si affrontano le principali strategie di intervento con materiali innovativi per applicazioni sismiche, coerentemente alle richieste del testo normativo principale. Dopo alcuni richiami, anche teorici, sulla valutazione della sicurezza strutturale degli edifici esistenti in c.a. e muratura, vengono affrontati esempi numerici su modelli tridimensionali, nei quali si analizza dapprima la vulnerabilità sismica della struttura con l'analisi statica non lineare (pushover), e poi gli effetti di un intervento di adeguamento con FRP. Il testo si propone anche di confrontare le indicazioni fornite dalle linee guida nazionali riguardanti l'utilizzo degli FRP (CNR-DT 200/2004 e linee guida del Consiglio Superiore LL. PP.) e le richieste della normativa sismica cogente (D.M. 14 gennaio 2008). In this, the first comprehensive book on Liliana Cavani, Gaetana Marrone redraws the map of postwar Italian cinema to make room for this extraordinary filmmaker, whose representations of transgressive eroticism, spiritual questing, and psychological extremes test the limits of the medium, pushing it into uncharted areas of discovery. Cavani's film The Night Porter (1974) created a sensation in the United States and Europe. But in many ways her critically renowned endeavors--which also include Francesco di Assisi, Galileo, I cannibali, Beyond Good and Evil, The Berlin Affair, and several operas and documentaries--remain enigmatic to audiences. Here Marrone presents Cavani's work as a cinema of ideas, showing how it takes pleasure in the telling of a story and ultimately revolts against all binding ideological and commercial codes. The author explores the rich visual language in which Cavani expresses thought, and the cultural icons that constitute her style and images. This approach affords powerful insights into the intricate interlacing of narrated events. We also come to understand the importance assigned to the gaze in the genesis of desire and the acquisition of knowledge. The films come to life in this book as the classical tragedies Cavani intended, where rebels and madmen experience conflict between historical and spiritual reality, the present and the past. Offering intertextual analyses within such fields as psychology, history, and cultural studies, along with production information gleaned from Cavani's personal archives, Marrone boldly advances our understanding of an intriguing, important body of cinematic work.

Fourteen cultural history essays exploring the relationship between Italian Americans, consumer culture, and the American identity. How do immigrants and their children forge their identities in a new land? And how does the ethnic culture they create thrive in the larger society? Making Italian America brings together new scholarship on the cultural history of consumption, immigration, and ethnic marketing to explore these questions by focusing on the case of an ethnic group whose material culture and lifestyles have been central to American life: Italian Americans. As embodied in fashion, film, food, popular music, sports, and many other representations and commodities, Italian American identities have profoundly fascinated, disturbed, and influenced American and global culture. Discussing in fresh ways topics as diverse as immigrant women's fashion, critiques of consumerism in Italian immigrant radicalism, the Italian American influence in early rock 'n' roll, ethnic tourism in Little Italy, and Guido subculture, Making Italian America recasts Italian immigrants and their children as active consumers who, since the turn of the twentieth century, have creatively managed to articulate relations of race, gender, and class and create distinctive lifestyles out of materials the marketplace offered to them. The success of these mostly working-class people in making their everyday culture meaningful to them as well as in shaping an ethnic identity that appealed to a wider public of shoppers and spectators looms large in the political history of consumption. Making Italian America appraises how immigrants and their children redesigned the market to suit their tastes and in the process made Italian American identities a lure for millions of consumers. Fourteen essays explore Italian American history in the light of consumer culture, across more than a century-long intense movement of people, goods, money, ideas, and images between Italy and the United States—a diasporic exchange that has transformed both nations. Simone Cinotto builds an analytical framework for understanding the ways in which ethnic and racial groups have shaped their collective identities and negotiated their place in the consumers' emporium and marketplace. Grounded in the new scholarship in transnational US history and the transfer of cultural patterns, Making Italian America illuminates the crucial role that consumption has had in shaping the ethnic culture and diasporic identities of Italians in America. It also illustrates vividly why and how those same identities—incorporated in commodities, commercial leisure, and popular representations—have become the object of desire for millions of American and global consumers. "This compelling and innovative volume captures the complexities of the pivotal role of consumption in the historical formation of transnational Italian American taste, positing a distinctive diasporic consumer culture that continues its importance today. Richly interdisciplinary, the collection represents an exciting new resource for scholars and students alike.” —Marilyn Halter, Boston University PLEASE NOTE - this is a replica of the print book and you will need a pen and paper to complete the exercises. Your first 1,000 Italian words - five words a day. Over the course of a year, Italian for Everyone Junior: Five Words a Day teaches new vocabulary to children who are starting to learn Italian. Presenting 20 new words between Monday and Thursday, the final day of each week's teaching allows children to practice the vocabulary they have just learned. A mix of nouns and verbs are taught through beautifully illustrated scenes, with each new word clearly labeled. Five Words a Day first encourages children to copy out the words before covering them with the flaps on the jacket and testing their new knowledge. Accompanying audio means that children are also able to practice their Italian pronunciation as many times as they want.
